Welcome

I am honored to welcome you to this celebration of Monmouth faculty.

The scholarly work of our faculty has a major impact on Monmouth University’s commitment to empower diverse learners with quality education for life. Today we gather again to celebrate the act by which our faculty participate in the scholarly community and demonstrate how they contribute to the universe of knowledge. Through their efforts: research, publication, creation of artistic works, and patenting of software or scientific processes, our faculty also bring recognition and respect to themselves and Monmouth University.

Today and every day, we salute our faculty colleagues. They provide not only a rigorous and challenging academic program for our students but also a fine example of the scholarly, curious, and creative academic intellect. They embody the value of critical thinking and a quality liberal arts education. It has never been more important for our students to leave us with a well-developed ability to conduct sound research based on superior information seeking skills.

We congratulate our faculty for their publications in 2018 and celebrate their contribution to Monmouth and to the transformation of our students.
